Antioch's New Post Office Will Be Dedicated Sunday

Antioch's new post office will be dedicated at 2 p.m. on April 29, this Sunday. Postmaster Roy Kufalk announced today.

The new facility, located at 405 Orchard Street is part of the Post Office Department's unique commercial leasing plan, Kufalk explained.

Under this program, investment financing is used to obtain needed facilities which remain under private ownership, pay local taxes to this community, and are leased to the Federal Government.

At the same time, the need for large outlays of money from the Federal Treasury for construction is eliminated.

The new local post office, incidentally, is part of a program of accelerated postal construction and modernization ordered by President Kennedy, to stimulate the nation's economy and to assist Postmaster General J. Edward Day in his program to provide the nation with the finest postal service in its history.

Kufalk announced that Donald Swanson, Regional Director of Postal Operations in Chicago, will give the dedication address and will present the flag at the postal dedication.

Before the dedication ceremonies, fifteen minutes of musical selections will be played by the Antioch High School Band.

The Postmaster will then extend a formal welcome to all present and introduce

Daylight Saving Time Change Set For Sunday

Village Clerk Clarence Shultis reported that residents of Antioch and the entire State of Illinois will go on Daylight Saving Time next Sunday, April 29, at 2 a.m.

He also stated that it will not be necessary for the community to stay awake until that hour in order to set the clock up one hour but that anytime Saturday night will do.

Before a state law made the time change mandatory, the village was required to pass an ordinance in order to legalize the change.

master of ceremonies George Hawkins.

Father Alfred J. Henderson of St. Peter's Catholic Church will give the invocation and the formal ceremonies will follow.

Along with the attending guests, the Fox Lake American Legion Color Guard will be present.

Postmaster Kufalk stated that he hoped as many residents as possible would turn out for the dedication of their new post office. He added that the residents of the community should be justly proud of their elegant new facility which was built to give them prompt and courteous service.

Youth Killed in Crash On State Line Roadway

William L. Freeman, 22, a resident of Edwards Road in Antioch, was killed instantly last Sunday at 2:10 a.m. when his car ran off State Line Road and struck a tree.

Answering a report of the accident was the Sheriff's Office and the Antioch Rescue Squad.

The Sheriff's Office estimated that Freeman, who had been headed east on State Line road, a mile and a half east of Route 21, went off the north side of the road and struck a tree nearby. His estimated speed at that time was the maximum his car would travel.

Upon striking the tree, the Sheriff's Office stated, Freeman was ejected from the front of his convertible and flew bodily through the air for 150 feet, struck a branch of another tree and carried it with him for another 30 feet before falling to earth.

Dr. Bobzien, who attended the scene of the accident, pronounced Freeman dead on arrival. His body was removed to Strang's Funeral Home by members of the Antioch Rescue Squad — Tom Haley, Dan Duganah and Marvin Heath.

Two tow trucks were required to unwrap Freeman's car from around the trunk of the tree struck. The crews labored for over an hour before the wreck was movable.

Marvin Heath of the Rescue Squad stated that the early-hour accident drew several dozen spectators. Freeman's body, which, at first, could not be located, was finally found by one of the spectators.

Freeman was born in Shooting Creek, North Carolina, on November 27, 1939, and moved to Mayville, Tenn., with his parents in 1940. He came to Antioch Township in 1958.

He was a member of the Independent Marine and Machinists Association. Freeman was employed by Johnson Motors as a molder.

Surviving him are his parents, Lester and Alma Freeman; his grandmother, Mrs. Kate Loery, of Belvidere; 3 brothers, Kenneth, of Waukegan, Archie of Norwood, Ohio, and Bennie, of Antioch; 4 sisters, Phyllis, Kay, Paulette, Emma Lou and Mary of Antioch; a half brother, Archie Reese, of Gainesville, Ga., and two half-sisters, Bona Moses, also of Gainesville, and Mabel Lee Pyle of Tampa, Fla.

Services for Freeman were held at Strang's Funeral Home on Tuesday at 3 p.m. Interment was at Mt. Carmel Cemetery in Newport Township.

Oil Dealers Meet Here

The Antioch Oilmen's Club hosted a meeting recently for the Fuel Oil Dealers of Libertyville, Fox Lake, Grayslake, McHenry, Richmond and Antioch.

The group was headed by Robert Lynch, Midwest representative of the National Oil Fuel Institute. He was the speaker at the club's dinner meeting which was held at Roman's restaurant located at Ingleside.

Lynch discussed the merits of fuel oil dealers joining forces to promote the advantages of oil heat as a group on a cooperative basis.

He said, "No oil company could handle this task alone because the job of selling oil heat belongs to every person in the fuel oil business." He added that if "oil dealers would unite in a cooperative promotion, they would be able to serve their customers better through improved services."

Officers of the hosting group were Bill Lahti, president; Tom Chase, vice president; and Ron Gaa, secretary and treasurer.

SPRINGFIELD — George T. Wilkins, state superintendent of public instruction, has asked all Illinois school districts to participate in an inventory of public school facilities and personnel for civil defense purposes. The inventory is part of a national survey.

The survey, requested by President Kennedy and the U. S. Dept. of Defense, has been termed urgent by federal officials who have asked co-operation by all school officials in an attempt to gather the inventory data before schools close for summer recess.

In case of a national emergency or nuclear attack, public school facilities would be considered important by the civil defense organization as possible mass feeding and evacuation centers, emergency hospitals and as sites for public fallout shelters.

"A federal grant to public schools for the construction of fall-out shelters is likely," according to Dr. Kenneth G. Nelson, specialist from the Educational Statistics Branch, U. S. Office of Education.

Dr. Nelson recently conferred with Superintendent Wilkins in Springfield.

Private and parochial schools will be inventoried by the Bureau of the Census.

ATHS Students See Need for Participation in Government

By Mike Brooks

The foundation of the recently successful Village-Student Government day in Antioch was long and carefully planned. It was generally felt that this day was extremely well organized, considering the fact that this was the program's first year of operation.

The plan was first discussed in all the Senior Government classes. The many and varied opinions of the students terminated with these three conclusions. The purposes of the planned government day were: 1. To acquaint them with the local government; 2. To develop an appreciation of its operation; 3. To acquaint them with the problems and attempts at solutions of the local government.

The second step of the procedure was to choose a Credentials Committee from the Senior Class to act as the steering committee. Those selected to work were picked by the Government instructors, Mrs. Tulumello and Mr. McLean. They were Dave Bonner, Judy Vejvoda, Ken Anderson, and Dennis Pogose. The functions of the committee were very important to the success of the planned day. They had to contact the Seniors and get as many as possible to run for offices, choose 3 or 4 Seniors to run for each office, encourage campaigning, secure and prepare a room for the election, install the voting booths that were borrowed from the village, select an Election Board, assemble material and make ballots, release the results of the election.

The qualifications of a student wishing to run for an office were: 1. Co-operation in school affairs, 2. Dependability, 3. A good scholastic average, 4. Services rendered to the school, and, 5. The ability to serve in office.

Election day was April 3rd, 1962. A very high and impressive 96.4% of the student body turned out at the polls. The officials elected were President—Dave Bonner; Clerk—Dennis Pogose; Treasurer—Mike Horn; Police Magistrate—Bob Krieger; (continued on page 4)

A DESTROYING ATTITUDE

The problem with today's teenager, it seems, is that he evaluates all things about him in relation to himself and his age bracket.

This basic and perennial problem is apparently growing as our home-life and schooling for the teenager becomes more "liberalized." He is led to believe that all society functions for his benefit alone, that laws are to be centered about him and that the nation as a whole is entirely dependent upon his whims and ambitions.

Of course, not all teenagers fall into this chasm of self-centered intolerance, but a portion of them can well find their names on such a list.

This attitude can be attributed to a nondescript homelife where the family's social and inner-home activities are centered completely about the teenager. When this habit is practiced, the teenager becomes more important than the family proper. There have even been cases when the teenager was actually telling the parents what they could watch on television, when they could smoke and when they could not. This is a deplorable situation when the teenager becomes the authority and self-styled parent in the home.

A great deal of this problem, as we have said so many times previously, is the fault of the parent. When a teenager recognizes no authority, it is obvious that he has never had the proper discipline nor guidance at home for him to realize that respect and obedience are necessary guideposts in shaping him into a responsible adult.

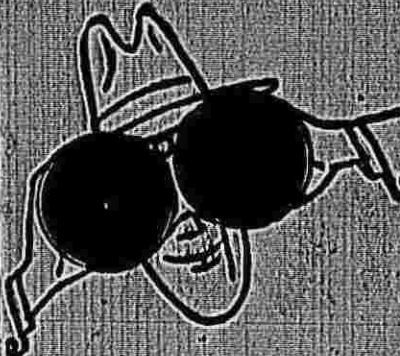

A great cult of erotic music, provocative apparel, habits, gestures, slang and other tell-tale miscellany make up the world of today's teenager. The reason for this private scope of relations within society seems to be that the teenager feels that he is more important than anything else. He will say, "this is our music, our type of clothing, our way of looking at it," almost as if he belonged to some sort of underground organization.

This attitude, more than any other makes the teenager remote and somewhat disassociated with the norms and habits of the entire nation and endangers his future place within the structure of modern society.

A good deal of the responsibility for this fostered attitude within teenagers can also be laid at the door of the publications field, where too much is made of them. They represent a minority not capable of rendering adult reasoning in the direction of their own lives and still myriad numbers of writers, teachers and sociologists insist that they are, at the age of fourteen, as equally experienced, as mentally well-balanced and as deft in trades and professions as a middle-aged adult.

This distorted philosophy has done more to corrupt the teenager, to blot him with false illusions of himself, than any other influence.

The simple state of his existence rests within the formulating years of mental growth and the only sound way of aiding that growth, for the teenager to recognize its importance, is a dominance of authority, communicative reasoning and an "un-pampering" attitude on the part of the adult and the teacher.

A tall man dressed in a gray uniform with a red silk sash and a flowing beard strode up to a cannon, picked up a flaming ignition stick and lit a fuse. Within seconds, a twelve-pound Napoleon howitzer had discharged a shell that crashed into the sturdy wall of a small fortress in the middle of Charleston Bay, North Carolina. The man was Confederate General Piere Gustave Toutant Beauregard. The fortress was Fort Sumpter. The Civil War was begun.

That event took place 101 years ago to this month. The bloody struggle ended five years later in the same month, April. In fact, the last Confederate armies, under the command of General Joseph E. Johnston surrendered on this day, April 26, at Durham Station, North Carolina.

Out of the titanic war which claimed the lives of 488,332, emerged a host of god-like heroes and in particular one of America's greatest and almost-legendary military men—Robert E. Lee. The great general, known to his troops as "Marse Robert," fought a defensive war against the overwhelming forces of the north for almost five long, bitter years until the South's capitulation.

First in his graduation class from West Point, Lee later became commandant of the military college and such men as "Jeb" Stuart, George Armstrong Custer, and James Longstreet graduated from the academy while he governed there.

At the offset of the Civil War, Lee refused to lead the Union armies but stayed loyal to his native Virginia which had gone with the south. He was made a full general early in 1861, and soon took over complete command of the major confederate army, (the Army of Northern Virginia). One of the most tactical military commanders of his day, advanced in warfare by innovation, Lee first introduced the use of trench warfare, cavalry movements, artillery usage, and was a profound exponent of the flanking movement.

His major victories, Fredricksburg, Second Manassas, Chancellorsville, were all fought along defensive lines. Lee waiting for the Union enemy in fortified trenches with the terrain in his favor. At Second Manassas he used his generals Hill and "Stonewall" Jackson to outflank the entire Union army under Pope while he feigned with two meager divisions on an apparent front which was only men on horseback dragging bushes behind them and creating a dust cloud that looked like an army on the move. Before he knew it, Pope had been surrounded. Lee's army was not in front of him but in back and on both sides. The battle was a great defeat for the North.

At Fredricksburg, Lee forced Union General Burnside to charge up an impossible position called Mayre's Heights which were crowned with Lee's entire army. Again the northern troops were routed.

The last and final victory of gigantic scope for Lee occurred at Chancellorsville, Virginia, when he faced General Fighting Joe Hooker's army of 90,000 with less than half that number. With a brilliant flanking maneuver led by Jackson, the Confederate army outflanked the Union wing and rolled down their flanks at a 150 to 1 ratio. The Northern Army crumbled, panicked and fled to Washington.

Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, was the only battle where Lee took the complete offensive. On the third day of the battle, July 3, 1863, after a terrific cannonade of the Union position, Cemetery Ridge, Lee ordered the "flow-er of the south," Pickett's Division of 15,000 youthful Virginians and Tennesseans in a frontal assault across a half mile of open terrain.

Hancock and his Iron Brigades were waiting, unseen, at the top of cemetery ridge for the confederate advance. Pickett marched out in front of his men, all stretched out the entire length of the

Your Governor Reports

By OTO KERNER

The number of employees in state government fluctuates from month to month, and from season to season. An analysis of personnel statistics also shows that economic conditions have as definite bearing on the numbers employed as seasonal demands.

Personnel in the Department of Public Works and Buildings increased in the spring and summer due to road repairs. The same is true of the Conservation Department due to state park and conservation area maintenance. The number employed by the Department of Labor and the Public Aid Commission will fluctuate in accordance with economic levels.

In the last year there have been noted certain increases in the numbers employed by the state. In view of our attempts to "hold the line" because of serious state finances, an analysis of these increases is in order. Without question certain increases are permanent because of added services and correction of inadequacies in operation.

The most detailed account of state personnel is compiled each month by the state Auditor of Public Accounts. However, these are not exact because they are actually a count of warrants issued. This report indicates one employee for each warrant regardless of time worked or whether more than one warrant was issued to the same person. Student help, patients and inmates of schools and institutions who receive stipends also are counted as employees.

The reports for January 1962, showed an increase over January 1961 of 2,004, exclusive of educational institutions. In the latest report for February 1962, there were 1,116 more warrants issued than in February 1961. The number employed, exclusive of universities, in February was 588 less than in January.

Of the 1,116 additional warrants issued in February of this year, 827 are in the Department of Mental Health and indicate progress in alleviating the under-staffed conditions in our institutions. Illinois had ranked among the lowest states in the nation in its employee-to-patient ratio, a deplorable condition which had to be remedied. I am pleased to note the department doing so.

Other major increases include 72 employees in the Department of Agriculture, where it was necessary to engage additional inspectors to conform to legislation passed by both the state and federal governments.

The Department of Revenue has an increase of 104 employees over a year ago. Of this number, 42 are new auditors whose work resulted in a more satisfactory collection of revenues owed the state. The remainder is clerical help which is necessary to handle the extra work and load of the increased number of accounts.

The department of Labor has an increase of 134 over the same month of last year, and the Public Aid Commission shows an increase of 148. The former, mostly paid from federal funds, are due to demands of unemployment compensation, and the latter because of increased case loads in the assistance programs.

In comparing the month of February totals for the years 1961 and 1962, of the 24 agencies directly under my jurisdiction, 12 showed decreases, two were unchanged and 10 showed increases.

This year's theme of the Junior-Senior Prom was announced last week. It will be "Rue d'Amour" which means "Street of Love." Members of the Junior Class elected the Queen's Court and their escorts last week. The following were elected:

Myrna Masek; Lynette Harms, Carol Sisson, Jane Edwards, and Jane Wolff. John Hallwas, Bob Kubicki, Rick Prossie, Don Blackman, and Frank Ehrhardt. The people attending the Prom will vote for the Queen before they enter the gym. The King is traditionally the President of the Junior Class, who this year is Dave Cardiff. The date is May 12th—only three weeks away. Ask your favorite girl now before someone else does with "only a wink, a whistle, and Wildcat—it gets them every time." Dream music will be administered by King Jaro. The location for the after-prom party has not been decided upon as of yet.

One of the comments by Chief of Police Walter Scott concerning the recent Village-Student Government Day was that Deryl Denman (Student elected Police Chief) would never make a good Chief of Police because he didn't drive fast enough to catch law-breakers. All the Seniors that were elected feel that it was a great experience and this project should be continued next year. It worked out very well for the first time. Congratulations for a well-done job.

Tuesday, April 24, school reopened after a five-day Spring Vacation. Everybody felt fine and looked well-rested, ready for the last home stretch of this year. Only five more weeks of school for the grand and illustrious Senior Class of 1962. In just a few short weeks, we will be leaving our home which has been so familiar to us for four long years. We will be leaving just in time to miss the new addition, the new football stadium, the new bandroom and athletic rooms, the new library, the new cafeteria, and many other new conveniences of modern living. Farewell, farewell!

True to tradition, the Easter Parade, plus beautiful weather, filled to overflowing, all of the local churches.

With the exception of a few short-lived rain drops in the early hours, it was a perfect day for "lady fashion's" shining hour. Of course you realize that I didn't have the opportunity to view all of your Easter finery, but if we had a rotogravure section, these pictures would most certainly appear within the pages.

PENNING THE NEWS:

"So you've just been made Publicity Chairman" — or — "You should have gone to the meeting." I can just picture how it happened! The chairman says, "and for publicity — she isn't here but I appoint..."
If you're like most people outside the publishing field, the first question that comes to your mind is, "How do I get news about my organization into the newspapers?"
And, like most people outside the field, you'll raise a skeptical brow when your president answers, "Just give the news to the newspapers." Actually, that's a pretty good definition of your job as publicity chairman. However, there is a right and a wrong way to go about it.
This article is the first of a series that I hope will aid you in becoming the best publicity chairman your group ever had and also help your publisher-editor do his job better and easier.
I will try not to paint the picture too black, as the job is not as unbearable as it may seem at first. In fact, if equal parts of patience and persistence are brought to bear, you will find yourself making pleasant and stimulating contacts as well as performing a worthwhile service. I will endeavor to answer all of your easy questions and some of the more painful ones, such as, "Why wasn't my article printed?" In the next few weeks we will delve into such subjects as newspaper deadlines, length of the stories, photographs, story form and others, all designed to aid, inform and in some cases amuse you.

I will try to give a better understanding of newspaper processes and the reasons they do things the way they do. Coming up in future weeks—"What is a Newspaper?" (a short one) — "The Editor, Man or Monster?" — "Get It While It's Hot," and many more.
The first of the series will be, "What is a Newspaper?" It will explain some of the purposes of the paper and its problems.
I will close this little corner for this week with a little truism I read in a Randolph County Newspaper recently: "Running a newspaper is one place where you cannot get lost because you've got half your subscribers telling you where to go."

Sympathy

Condolences are sent to the family of the late Anna Fitzgerald of 312 Thornwood Drive. Besides her husband, Lowell, she leaves three sisters and six brothers, who all reside in Joliet. Most everyone around here remembers her. We first knew her when she was injured so seriously just two years ago, in a head-on crash in the fog, coming home from Victory Memorial Hospital where she was a licensed practical nurse. After she recovered she spent her time collecting dolls and other toys and distributing them to the orphans at the Orphan home in Elgin. She went to every rummage sale and bought clothes for the patients at Elgin State Hospital. Her neighbors found things she was planning to take to the hospital this weekend. Anna had no children of her own, but she loved children, and was very good to all the neighborhood children.

She and Mrs. Lopresto, Mrs. Strew and Mrs. Brendel had a little club that met every two weeks. On her birthday March 28, the ladies decorated her bathroom and she was so happy. Yes, Anna is gone, but she will long be remembered.

Newcomers

Mr. and Mrs. James (Marie) Santoro of 1601 Grand Avenue are new residents, having moved here just a month ago from Northbrook, where they lived for a year and a half. They are originally from Chicago. They have bought the Dady home on Sand Lake.

Mr. Santoro has been the principal of the Spaulding North School in Waukegan for the past seven years. Prior to becoming principal, he was an elementary teacher at Spaulding South for three years. While in Pegasus, New Mexico, he taught high school for three years, also. He majored in journalism and was sports editor of the New Mexico Lobo. At the present time he is adviser for the Spaulding "Spartan," a school newspaper. He is a hand ball enthusiast and he and his partner, Gene Paulausky of Waukegan, and a teacher at Jack Benny Junior High School won the 1962 Lake County doubles hand ball tournament staged at the Waukegan YMCA recently. Twenty teams were in the tournament.

Mrs. Santoro works for Needham, Louis and Borby Incorporated, in the Prudential building in Chicago. She likes to sew and make her own clothes. Enjoys listening to soft music and concert music on their hi-fi, and catches up on her reading while commuting.

They like the friendly people they have met and are anxious to meet and get acquainted with their neighbors when the weather warms up. They like the fresh air, and are quite impressed with the community.

Boys in the 8 to 10 year old group of the NRA will meet at the Lindenhurst Civic Center Wednesday evening at 7:15 p.m.

"Wood-Chicks"

Norma Gibbs was hostess for the "Wood-chicks" last Tuesday evening. Since it was close to Easter, she asked all the girls to make either a pretty or a silly Easter bonnet, before they came over. Norma asked her husband, Al, to judge the hats, but he wanted no part of it and ducked out. So the girls decided by secret ballot. Peggy Karry won with her ruffle around the bottom and birthday candles on top. (The ruffle originally was around a birthday cake from Slove's) Everyone agreed hers was the prettiest. Jannette Pfeifer's was the silliest. She wore a colander, and had cooked spaghetti hanging from it. On each side of it was a can of pizza sauce and on the top was a package of seasoning.

Later they played cards. Their last get-together until September will be in May, when the group will go to the Adria for their annual night out.

Norma served a pretty cake decorated just like a hat, and had other goodies.

Book Review

By Marion Harden

Two books have recently been given to the Antioch Township Library as memorial books for Mrs. Clarence Crowley.

"Our Fifty States" by Earl Schenck Miers, gives a brief descriptive and historical survey of each individual state in our union. The many maps, the large print and the strong binding will make the book extremely valuable for the use of young people and the seeker of concise factual material.

The Golden Press has issued a special edition of "The Wonders of Life on Earth" especially for the young reader. The very fine illustrations that characterize all of the Life publications are particularly good in this book. Since biology is a science that holds great interest for the teenage reader, this is a useful and attractive addition to the library's collection.

Tuesday, April 17, was the day selected by the Village and ATHS for the Village Student Government Day. The following day, the participating Seniors gave a report to their class. Favorable comments about the successful and exciting day were heard from all the officers. Village President Dave Bonner said that this day should be a continuous project, year in and year out. "All of us should acquaint ourselves with our village officials, and their work—they serve us well," Bonner said.

Village Clerk, Dennis Pogose said, "There is much more work than I thought. Village Government can best meet our needs when they know our problems."

Chief of Police, Deryl Denman added, "The Village officials became better acquainted with the students and their everyday problems."

Fire Chief, Cliff White, said, "The officials are a nice bunch of guys. They are not in office for the money, little that there is, but because they are interested in the growth and wealth of the town."

Public Works Chief, Joe Wolf, said, "We, the people, often complain about how the village operates, but then we are always too busy to attend the Village Board Meetings on Tuesday nights. Also, we do not realize the many areas into which our public officials' services extend."

The school and Senior Government classes wish to thank the Village officials for their gracious and helpful co-operation in making the first Village-Student Government Day a complete success. Many things were learned about the operation of small, local government; many things which John Q. Public could learn in a short time, just by taking an active interest in the government of the community and village he lives in.

In homes with Flameless Electric Heat you almost have to hunt for dust

When you move into an electrically heated home you can practically forget about dirt. Electric heat is as clean as the electric light you read by.

There's no flame or fuel to make dirt, soot, or grime. And electric heat is such gentle heat it doesn't even stir up dust. In fact, in an electrically heated home you often have to look for dust.

EVERYTHING STAYS CLEAN LONGER

Your curtains and draperies stay fresh and nice for so long you'll have a time remembering when you put them up. Upholstery stays lots nicer, too. Electric heat is so clean you spend far less time housekeeping. That leaves you more time for activities you enjoy.

Living in an electrically heated home has other advantages, too, such as room-by-room heat control and fresher feeling heat that uses up none of the moisture or oxygen in the air. Even your skin feels more comfortable.

ELECTRIC HEATING NOW COSTS LESS THAN EVER

The recent rate reduction—on Electric Heating—applies to the three basic systems illustrated below. So, if you're looking for a new home... plan to build one... or want to modernize the heating in the home you own, call your nearest Public Service Company office for complete facts on the Electric Heating system that's best for you.

3 BASIC TYPES OF FLAMELESS ELECTRIC HEATING TO SOLVE EVERY HEATING PROBLEM

Radiant Electric Heating
—offers room-by-room control. Ideal in homes or apartments. Just set the dial and you control the heat. Heating units circulate and radiate gentle waves of warmth throughout each room.

Central Electric Heating
—new kind of furnace for new or older homes. Works with your present duct system. Circulates gentle electrically heated air. Air conditioning may be added at any time.

Electric Heat Pump
—gives you perfect year-round climate automatically. Amazing unit switches to heating or air conditioning by itself. Maintains ideal temperature and humidity with one setting.

The Antioch Sequoits were beaten for the second time in a row last Wednesday, April 18, by the Grant Bulldogs in their baseball match played at Ingleside, 4-2.

Going all the way for the Sequoits was Antioch pitcher Bill Ozga, who took the loss.

The entire game, related Antioch Coach Larry Leon, was pock-marked by double plays with three being made by Grant and one by Antioch. Leon stated that Grant's double plays were the key-note to their victory.

Although Ozga was batted to defeat by Bulldog sluggers, he succeeded in striking out six opponents as compared to Grant's Patterson who won the fray with only one strike-out.

Ozga gave up six walks, however, to Patterson's five. Superior hitting on the Bulldogs' part proved to be the deciding factor in the game's win. Although the Sequoits had the edge on individual hits with 8, Wojczynski slamming out three, Grant bunched their hitting up into runs, where the Sequoits died on bases. The Bulldogs' double-plays also shut out the possibility of Antioch's scoring.

Kazlauskis, Jorgensen, Kollakson, Jackson and Rowden for Grant were all credited with stolen bases. Antioch registered only one made by Horn.

to accommodate the increase in competitive vehicles.

The 1962 season will again present modified stock car racing and will introduce for the first time the Sportsmen stock cars. It is also probable that amateur racing will be retained. The Sportsmen type cars will be 1949 models and up with added safety features such as cage type roll over bars, full firewalls and floorboards and reinforced wheels. Engines must be visibly stock as contrasted to the amateur type racing in which engines must be stock all the way.

Copies of the 1962 rules and regulations for both the modifieds and the sportsmen are still available to anyone who has not as yet received their copy. Those requesting copies are asked to write to Midwest Speedways, Inc., 6127 West Blue Mound Road, Milwaukee 13, Wis.

With West Washington Street now completed in its new double lane segments, fans will find access to the speedway grounds easier and faster than ever before.

Opening dates for both tryout runs and the first race program will be announced later this month.

Drag Racing Begins Sunday

Play Begins Soon for Wis. 'Little League'

At a recent Lakeland Little League meeting held in Silver Lake, it was decided to retain last year's setup of six Major division teams and four Minor division teams. The Majors will open their season on Monday, May 14, while the Minors will open on Tuesday, June 5. The Majors will play their games on Mondays and Thursdays and the Minors on Tuesdays and Fridays with all games commencing at 6 p.m. unless otherwise scheduled.

President Williams stated that League boundaries include the townships of Randall, Wheatland, Salem, and Brighton and the incorporated villages of Silver Lake, Twin Lakes, and Paddocks Lake. Boys who live just outside the boundaries are welcome to attend League tryouts if transportation presents no difficulty in attending practices and regularly scheduled games.

The finance committee reported that requests for donations have been mailed out and that returns are already coming in. The annual chocolate bar sale has been set for May 26.

Tryouts have been scheduled for the weekend of April 28-29 with alternate dates for May 5-6 in case the first two days have to be cancelled. Boys 9-12 are eligible to attend the tryouts.

The League also voted to select players in accordance with a draft system instead of the auction method which the League has used in the past.

Other items that were discussed were umpires, playing sites, equipment, team records, and publicity.
